Dear Members:

We understand you are as anxious as we are to know the impact Donald Trump's Executive Orders will have on the union and on union activities. FISE has taken an aggressive approach to defend itself and its members from any unlawful actions by Donald Trump.

We have joined together with AFT and other unions representing federal employees and have filed suit against Donald Trump in federal court in Washington, DC. We are seeking to have all three of Trump's anti-union Executive Orders be declared illegal and thrown out. We have posted a copy of the lawsuit on our FISE homepage (www.fiseheadquarters.org), and on our Facebook page, if you would like to read it. I encourage you to do so.

While the lawsuit is pending, we do not expect any changes to the way this union operates. We will continue to use official time in the same manner we have in the past, and we will strictly enforce all provisions in the CBA, including the use of progressive discipline prior to termination.

We will keep you updated as major milestones occur with the lawsuit. I would like to remind all of you that this union is only successful when members join. Litigation is very expensive and if you would like to see the union continue to fight against these current and other unlawful actions by this administration, please become a dues paying member. As always, thank you to our current dues payers for your continued support.

In unity,
